Ibukun's Home

Ibukunoluwa – "God's blessings" or "Blessing from God" in translation from Yoruba to English.

I am a technologist with over six years of rollercoaster ride as a founder, product guy, and venture scout. My secret sauce? A killer work ethic, unwavering commitment, and an insatiable hunger for success.

I have carved my path and left a mark in some of the most competitive spaces, leaving behind a trail of products, ideas, and transformations that push boundaries.

When I am not knee-deep in startups, building products, or leading digital transformation, you will find me globetrotting, catching z's, debating politics, or geeking out over podcasts, movies, music, sports, and food. I am also that guy who loves dropping dumb, mind-bending ideas (disguised as pushing the boundaries of innovation, of course) into casual conversation.

Nigerian by birth, UK resident by choice – that's me in a nutshell.

▼ Work Experience

- Oxford University Press: Product Manager

Oxford University Press (OUP) is the world's largest university press, publishing 6k titles annually, achieving over 110m global unit sales and £796m in turnover (FY 2024/25). A significant focus of my role is managing digital platforms that modernise processes at the intersection of publishing and technology, reshaping how over 600k content and metadata are stored, managed, and distributed to over 200 global partners.

- TN Naija: Ops and Logistics Lead

TN Naija is a non-profit community of over 650 Nigerian tech professionals, all holders of the UK Global Talent Visa. A significant focus of my volunteer role is executing end-to-end ops and logistics management for annual conferences (London 2024, Birmingham 2025), overseeing vendor sourcing (catering, audio-visual, venues, light, sound, etc.), and cross-team collaboration with content, marketing, partnership, etc., to deliver seamless experiences for attendees, speakers, and exhibitors.

- Coremaker: Product Owner

Coremaker is a London-based software engineering studio that provides startups and SMEs with the best technology. A significant focus of my role was managing the development of digital products within the fintech/ledger, open-source, and investment-tech domains.

- GTVAdvice: Creator

GTVAdvice is a digital repository offering both official and unofficial resources, including articles, videos, and forum threads, to assist individuals aspiring to apply for the UK Global Talent Visa in crafting a robust application.

- SHL Capital: VC Scout

SHL Capital invests $15 million a year in pre-seed and seed-stage startups, usually in the form of $150k to $250k checks. Notable SHL Capital portfolio companies include ClubHouse, Lambda School, Notion, Figma, HelloSign, and many more.

- Quabbly: Product Marketing

Airtable and Zapier on one platform. Quabbly is an automation platform designed for businesses of all sizes in Africa. It lets you connect your favourite tools, create custom workflows, and automate repetitive tasks—all without writing a single line of code.

- Afriktrip: Founder

TripAdvisor for Africa. Afriktrip is an online marketplace where tourists can discover and book 7.5k tours, activities, and experiences offered by 1.5k verified local tour operators and guides across 28 African countries. Proudly backed by Daniel Gross (former YC Partner and Pioneer founder).

- AfroScanner: Creator

AfroScanner is a comprehensive, freely accessible online directory that serves as your complete guide to African travel. We provide essential information on visa requirements, entry criteria, health guidelines, and travel protocols, establishing ourselves as the definitive resource for travellers navigating Africa in the post-pandemic landscape.

- Tour Guide Africa Series: Editor-In-Chief

This blog series features interviews with the visionary founders of local tourism businesses who are playing a pivotal role in propelling Africa's tourism industry to new heights.

- StopTheSpread: Product Manager

StopTheSpread is a web app providing reliable information for the public on COVID-19 in simple language, written by medical professionals. At its peak, it garnered 50k daily active users in the UK, USA, Australia, and New Zealand, serving as an educational resource for over 100 GP practices throughout the UK.

- First City Monument Bank: Core Banking Application Support

First City Monument Bank (FCMB) is a banking and financial institution HQ in Lagos, Nigeria, that provides market-proven solutions that drive digital transformation in the banking sector, with total assets valued at $5b. A significant part of my role was collaborating with the IT team and writing SQL for data integration, essential for the development of bespoke financial applications.

- Cralocs: Founder

Airbnb for film locations. Cralocs is an online marketplace that connects filmmakers with unique real estate properties for shoots – think luxury homes, loft apartments, warehouses, cafes, offices, churches, and more. From Los Angeles to Atlanta, property owners list their spaces to earn extra income by hosting film productions.

- BoxPlay: Founder

Netflix, but for movie rentals. BoxPlay is a video-on-demand service that enables Nigerians to rent and watch cinema-released movies on their mobile devices. This was my first attempt at building a digital product or startup at age 18.
